SHIFT - The Numismatist BEING DONE HERE INSTEAD OF AT COLORADO SPRINGS

Conventions produce many strange sights, one of the most unusual, however, is occurring in Room 1220 as you read this report.

The early date of the A. N. A. Convention has put the editorial offices of The Numismatist in a turmoil. Deadline for make-up of the A. N. A. 's official magazine falls right smack in the middle of this Convention.

For those of you wondering about the little man with the blue editor's badge running back and forth, up and down, and in circles - well, it's because he's trying to be several places at the same time - including being in Room 1220 pasting-up the magazine.

If you want a preview peek of the September issue of the magazine - take a run up to 1220 - say on Monday.

WOW! $1,200,000,000

Yes — Your first, and perhaps last look at $One Billion, Two Hundred Million. Sidney W. Smith, A. N. A. General Chairman, and Frank S. Tucci, U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing enjoy holding the unique display, readied for A. N. A. 76th Anniversary Convention.

A. N. A. exhibit co-chairmen, Lou and Jean Montesi of Hialeah, dreamed of having the Treasury Department exhibit various securities, etc. Mr. Garland V. Bell, the Director of Industrial Services of the Bureau of Engraving said the Bureau would be pleased to take part.

Mr. Sidney Smith, A. N. A. General Chairman, visited the Bureau and made several suggestions which were very helpful in selecting appropriate material.

Some of the items on display are $500,000,000 and $100,000,000 Treasury Notes and Certificates of Indebtedness which total one billion two hundred million dollars in face value. The $500 million Treasury notes are five year notes and pay interest at the rate of 5½% or over $13,000,000 every six months.

Mr. Henry J. Holtzclaw, the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing authorized Mr. Frank S. Tucci, a member of his staff, to represent the Treasury Department.

Security for an exhibit of this type is paramount. The A. N. A. cooperated fully with the Treasury Department in this and all other respects.
